Communication

When it comes to making conversation with strangers, sometimes it can be a little intimidating. Now I'm talking about just simple people visiting the church building or perhaps when you are out and about and you are the visitor, either way sometimes just saying a simple hello can seem like a true chore. Debbie and I struggled with that particular problem when we first decided to work in the ministry.

I often heard people say things like, "That is not a friendly congregation" or "They were not welcoming at all". But have you ever thought that maybe what you are feeling in your heart is exactly what they are feeling in their's also? How about we just make a harder effort to get out of our comfort zone and stick our hands of fellowship out to welcome everyone. Trust me; it's not as hard as you may think it is.

Philippians 2:1-4 (NKJV)

Therefore if there is any consolation in Christ, if any comfort of love, if any fellowship of the Spirit, if any affection and mercy, fulfill my joy by being like-minded, having the same love, being of one accord, of one mind. Let nothing be done through selfish ambition or conceit, but in lowliness of mind let each esteem others better than himself. Let each of you look out not only for his own interests, but also for the interests of others.
