How Does "Considering the Lilies" Encourage Christians Today?

Matthew 6:25-34 (ESV) is titled, "Do Not Be Anxious." The apostle Luke recorded Jesus' words as well: "Consider the lilies, how they grow: they neither toil nor spin, yet I tell you, even Solomon in all his glory was not arrayed like one of these" Luke 12:27 (ESV). We can trust God's provision. The proof is in the beauty and compassionate care He has for all of creation. How much more does He love and sustain us, created in His image?

"Consider the lilies" encourages us to trust in the providence of God. Jesus did not neglect to acknowledge the difficulty of life. He promised, "In this world, you will have trouble." He knows our tendency to panic and worry about days ahead only God held the answers to. By no means is this a call to ignore the treatment of anxiety and depression when necessary. Our sovereign God has provided a way for those suffering from those ailments to be comforted and healed. We must be aware of and obedient to the wisdom He is faithful to provide.

God is sovereign over our worries. By prayer and obedience to His word, we can hand them over to Him. By the sacrificial death of Christ on the cross, the Holy Spirit lives in every believer. In Christ, we have the power to choose freedom from worry. It is a daily discipline. Sometimes, moment by moment. Consider the flowers and realize your great value and worth to the Creator.
